The new luxury adjectives: independent, unique, handmade

Thomas Erber

OPEN

A compendium of lifestyle, music, travel, eroticism and literature brought to you by Thomas Erber, French journalist and cool hunter. A sort of private collection that gives luster to all artists, designers and writers that shape beauty while remaining faithful to the independence and to a limited number.

The rarities of the Cabinet de Curiosités will be revealed Tuesday, November 22 at Browns, one of the most popular concept store in London.

Until December 23, the followers of non-standard luxury can buy the thirty objects selected by the Erber: the case in crocodile S.T.Dupont, the aluminum bicycle Schindelhauer, the super-equipped trip-chair by Pinel&Pinel, the boots by Pierre Hardy in leather and fur, the tortoiseshell glasses by Maison Bonnet, but also books, prints, clothes, watches, design and travels.

Two, in fact, are the routes traced by Thomas Erber and managed by the travel company Kuoni: a family safari in Namibia and a hike in the heart of the yet unknown lands of Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay.
